August 27, 1962 - November 30, 2020

Deborah Ann DiGregorio Sikes

8/27/1962-11/30/2020

The sun has set on a kind and beautiful soul. Her wit and courage were not enough to save her from the ravages the Big-C inflicted on her body.

We choose not to reflect on her last days but will remember her smile, her self-effacing way. Debbie could turn any situation into a comedy routine and have her audience rolling with laughter. No one could deny her work ethics and the love she had for her family.

This happened much too soon, but she can now take a rest from her pain and suffering. The one thing that cannot be taken from us are the memories. Debbie will live forever in our minds and in our hearts.

We will all have to take a cue from her life and learn to rebound. Deb showed us this with her courage. We will have to honor that by being strong and imparting that virtue to those of us who will follow. We must be grateful for the time we had her in our lives and make sure she is never forgotten.

Rest in Peace my beautiful daughter, my first born. This is not the order of things and I am consumed with the guilt of burying my child. Forgive me for being incapable of seeing you in the throes of your suffering. I want only to think of you as I last saw you, laughing, joking and teasing your father with exaggerated stories. Let our love carry you to a better place.

Gerry, it's your turn to take care of her.

“ Our thoughts and prayers are with Larry, Vincent and Vanessa. All you can say about Debbie is that she was one of a kind and always the life of the party. Everyone was happy to have Debbie show up and turn every get together into a memorable event. She will truly be missed.

Our flower girl that wanted to join us on our honeymoon (53 years ago) and a 3-year old Debbie who was sad that Richard didn't have a picture of her in his wallet. So she drew one (stick figure with all arms and legs). Richard kept it in his wallet for years.

Love, Anita and Richard

“ So sorry to hear of my cousin Debbie's passing. I will always remember visiting when we were younger and you always knew when Debbie was around because you could hear her boisterous voice and infectious laughter a mile away! Peace and love to the family and know that my family sends its love. Sandra Privee
